

One Rescued In Sewer Cavein, But Mate Dies

Two Bodies Believed Buried Within Several Feet of Where Pair Was Found

SUFFER UNTOLD AGONIES

Companion of Rescued Worker Succumbs to Painful Injuries After Many Hours

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Otto Cina, one of the four men buried by tons of debris in a sewer cavein 25 feet below the surface here Wednesday morning, was rescued Wednesday night while his partner, Joseph Tina, died a few minutes before rescuers liberated him. Cina will recover, attendants at the emergency hospital said Thursday morning although he is suffering from internal injuries, a fractured leg, cuts, bruises and shocks.

He was liberated 15 hours after the collapse of the sewer ceiling and walls in which the party of four were working. The bodies of John Milich and William Beljon, both of Detroit, have not been recovered. They were working within a few feet of Cina when the collapse occurred, it is reported. Early Wednesday night it was determined that if one man came out of the pit alive the other would possibly die as the result of another cavein which would result from removal of one man. Workers avoided this however and after Cina had been removed and they were within a few minutes of removing Tina, he died. During their 15 hours imprisonment always within sight of rescue squads, they suffered untold agonies. Buried to the waist by timbers, sand and muck, Tina and Cina who was buried all except his head, bore up bravely with the aid of stimulants given them regularly by physicians. Oxygen was piped into the pit and kept in continuous flow to aid them and the rescuers at times workers had to leave the sewer and return to the open, two were overcome but recovered.

The accident was the fourth of its kind in the history of the city. Workers Thursday continued their search for the bodies of Beljon and Milich.

PITTSBURG PLUS DEFEATED, EKERN

RADICALS LACK POPULARITY TO WIN ILLINOIS

Coolidge Could Afford to Lose 300,000 Votes Without Feeling It

STRONG REPUBLICAN STATE

LaFollette Votes Will Be Considerable But Insufficient to Win, Lawrence Says

By David Lawrence
Copyright 1924 by The Post Pub. Co.
Chicago—Illinois at the moment is not seriously enough affected by the candidacy of Senator LaFollette to warrant optimism among Democrats that John W. Davis will profit by the split and capture the electoral vote as did Wilson in 1912 when the Republican party was divided.

There is an unquestioned drift or undercurrent or silent vote or indefinable trend toward LaFollette from the ranks of the workingman and from farmers who want class government. This vote will be considerable but in a state which Harding carried by a million majority in 1920, Coolidge could afford to lose 300,000 or more votes and not feel it.

In other words in a strongly Republican state like this only a Roosevelt with a dominating influence among regulars as well as progressives can prevent the electoral vote from being cast for a Republican. And it is admitted on all sides that LaFollette is no Roosevelt.

SUSPECT SUICIDE WHEN BODY OF LODI BANKER IS FOUND

Shot Was Fired Through Heart at Close Range, Coroner Finds

Lodi—The body of Ferdinand Markgraf, 35, cashier of the Columbia State bank of Lodi, lies in a local undertaking establishment following its discovery four miles south of here late Wednesday on the Markgraf homestead. A revolver lay beside the body and examination by Joseph Stephenson, Dane co. coroner resulted in a verdict of suicide.

The coroner announced that death had been caused by a bullet fired at close range through the heart. The examination also revealed that bruises on the face were not bullet wounds as originally believed. The finding of the body late Wednesday ended a search which had wrought up the entire community and attracted citizens from miles around who joined posses under Sheriff Harry Nehls of Columbia. The body was discovered by J. J. Vanderhef, Madison salesman, together with several other men. Coroner Stephenson exposed the body. Markgraf took his life less than 24 hours before discovery of the body. The banker had been missing Sunday but searchers are said to have seen the man entering a clump of timber early Tuesday night.

Bank examiners are continuing their examination of the bank's records although they report no irregularities have been discovered. Approximately $25,000 in bonds and securities which had been entrusted to Markgraf by residents of Lodi are said to be missing, however. The securities were not recorded in the bank's records. Steps will be taken immediately to make up the bonds, according to bank officials.

DAVIS RETURNS TO MIDWEST ON STUMPING TOUR

Democratic Standard Bearer Attacks Tariff Laws in Des Moines Address

By Associated Press
Abroad the Davis Special Train, en route to Chicago—Having concluded present campaign west of the Mississippi river, John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential candidate, returned to the middle west Thursday to open a campaign there before going back to the east.

His present schedule calls for an address Thursday night at Chicago, one in which his advisers have urged him to strike out against the Republican party with even more vigor than he did in the west.

Mr. Davis' last day west of the Mississippi river proved a strenuous one, a day that had a dozen engagements and four speeches.

In the principal one at the Coliseum at Des Moines Wednesday night, he declared for further tax reduction and a reform of the tariff but without any "ruthless and vindictive slashing of rates to gratify political animosities or class antagonism."

Assailing the McCumber-Fordney tariff measure as an act of "economic madness and political destruction," Mr. Davis said it had "restricted the market abroad for American agricultural and the American industries which must export if they are to prosper; 'notoriously' violated the promise to measure duties by the difference between foreign and domestic cost of production; 'held out the utterly delusive hope of quick reform through a provision for so-called flexibility under executive control, a provision which has not been fulfilled, can not be fulfilled and should not be fulfilled.'"

In substitution for this "legislative monstrosity," Mr. Davis said the Democratic party proposes reform of the tariff by revising downward existing duties to truly competitive basis and "by eliminating all favoritism and the evils that flow from it."

PROGRESSIVE SLAPS COOLIDGE POLICIES

LaFollette and Burton K. Wheeler, Benjamin C. Marsh of Washington, managing director of the Farmers National council, censured President Coolidge for not dismissing the secretary of agriculture.

"One of the most heinous instances of terrorism in our nation's history was the firing of Mr. John M. Burns, assistant to the secretary in the packing and stock yards administration of the department of agriculture, because Mr. Burns told the truth about the administration of the packers and stock yards act," Mr. Marsh declared.

BOB READY TO FIRE HIS OPENING SALVO

LaFollette Plans to Arrive in New York Just Before Meeting in Garden

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Senator LaFollette, independent candidate for president, timed his departure Thursday for New York to address a Madison Square Garden rally Thursday night so that he would reach his destination just before the meeting.

The speech Senator LaFollette will deliver is the first to be addressed by him to an audience since he became a presidential candidate. It was prepared with unusual care and indications were that it would take the senator an hour of more to complete delivery.

Before leaving Washington, Mr. LaFollette declared he was in excellent physical trim for his platform effort and said he looked forward eagerly to his appearance in New York as well as to other speaking engagements he intends to make during the campaign. He was undecided whether he would return to Washington Friday, going back to New York Sunday to address the Steven society, or remain in the Metropolis over the weekend.

The Lenroots have been in Madison for nearly two weeks but Mrs. Lenroot's sickness had not been known. The Junior Wisconsin senator is staying at a local hotel. Mr. Lenroot said Thursday, however, that his wife suffered a nervous breakdown while in Washington and that she came to Madison to undergo treatment at the university infirmary. He said they hope to return to their home in Superior within two or three weeks unless Mrs. Lenroot's condition becomes worse.

Representative Johnson, assigned to a post in the National Speakers bureau, will devote most of his time henceforward to the national campaign.

FINDS SERVICE MEDAL OF RED ARROW VETERAN

Some former service men evidently going to or returning from the annual reunion of Red Arrow men at Milwaukee is without his victory medal, for a medal which might have belonged to a Red Arrow man was found on highway 15 between Ripon and Appleton late week by William Bogan, county motorcycle officer. The medal shows that the owner participated in the Somme offensive and in the Meuse-Argonne defensive sector. Since these medals are prized quite highly by most veterans, Officer Bogan left it at the county highway office in the hope that some one might call for it.

Yeast Eating Fashion Makes Cakes Disappear Quickly From Counters

Have you a little yeast cake in your home? It's being done. The "spark plus food" as yeast has been called has taken a big leap in sales, the Appleton agents say, especially during the last few months. That the increase is due to the fact that people are using it as a table food is the opinion of grocers.

The danger signal of the skin, pimples, blackheads and boils are some of the cures which yeast takes upon itself to get rid of. Yeast with its amount of vitamins corrects basic causes more easily than spinach, one of the most prized vegetables, yeast men declare.

Eating of yeast is accomplished by spreading it on bread or crackers, or mixing it with butter, apple butter or jam, and using it sometimes as a sandwich filler. Others eat it plain from the cake in small pieces, or take it dissolved in warm milk to drink before retiring. This would not make it easier for one to rise in the morning, however. No yeast won't have the same effect when eaten as in raising bread. The yeast is assimilated by the body like another food. The usual amount varies from one to three cakes a day, taken any time—with, before or between meals.

Women use considerable more yeast than men it is believed, although many men request the presence of it at the table. "Yeast...3 cents," may soon be required on the hotel menus if the desire for the corrective persists.

Specially prepared recipes are: Crush one cake of yeast with a fork and blend with one tablespoon of melted butter, one tablespoon of chopped green peppers and a half cup of tuna fish. Spread between toasted crackers. Crush one cake of yeast with one teaspoon of chili sauce, one tablespoon of cream cheese and spread on a crisp salline. To make mashed potatoes lighter and fluffier, mash six potatoes, add butter, salt and pepper and whip in one cake of yeast dissolved in milk.

GUARDSMEN FORM CLUB TO PROMOTE SOCIAL ACTIVITY

Attractive Clubroom Is Provided at Armory for Badger Military Club

To promote the spirit of the national guard in Appleton and to promote friendliness and good will among guardsmen, the Badger Military club has been organized and incorporated. The first meeting was held Tuesday evening in the club rooms at the armory.

Articles of incorporation were read, approved and adopted by the club at the meeting. Election of permanent officers took place. George Bell was elected president. Other officers are: William E. Donovan, secretary; Hubert J. Piette, treasurer; Maurice A. Peerenboom, historian. Only members of Co. D, 127th Infantry, are eligible to membership. It is the hope of the club however, in the future to extend the organization to other cities of the state having national guard divisions. For this reason the name Badger Military club has been selected.

A small button to be worn in the coat lapel will be the emblem of the club. It will be of bronze, with an American spread eagle holding crossed guns in its claws, surrounded by a wreath and bearing the inscription "Badger Military club" in relief.

Clubrooms in the basement of the armory have been redecorated in buff color. The lobby is being refurnished with floor lamps, phonograph and writing desk to give it a homelike appearance. An electric fan has been installed to furnish ventilation. A kitchenette 8 by 12 feet, equipped with a gas stove, sink, cooking utensils and other necessities has been arranged. Card tables, pool table, weekly or monthly magazines, of which eighteen have been subscribed for, cigar, cigaret, tobacco and candy stand, and several daily papers will be found in the clubrooms to furnish entertainment for the members during their leisure hours.

A dinner will be held Saturday evening for charter members of club. Applications for membership will be accepted Monday evening when club will be open full time. Each member of the club will have a key and will be privileged to use the rooms whenever he desires. It is the hope of officers to finance the building of a small gymnasium in the armory in the near future. Plans will materialize during the winter for this, it is believed.

Pastors Here Blast Tale Of Bad Children

The time-worn belief that a minister's child is "full of the Old Nick" is without foundation. Those who declare that few children of preachers of the gospel have ever amounted to much will have to retract their statement, for in Appleton high school is living proof that preachers' children do amount to something after all.

Miss Miriam Peabody, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Peabody, and Herman Brockhaus, son of the Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Brockhaus, recently were elected keepers of the flag, the highest honor that the senior class can bestow upon any of its members. Herman Brockhaus also is editor of the weekly newspaper, "The Tallman," and Miss Peabody is a member of its staff.

Another prominent high school boy is Howard Menzner, who has taken part in dramatic and oratorical events. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Menzner.

The are other children of ministers in Appleton high school, but there is yet to be discovered one who has lived up to these untoward traditions.

SERIOUS SIDE OF COLLEGE

It is frequently said in deprecation of college men that they go to college to have a good time first and an education afterwards. Apparently some good people believe that it is purely accidental when a young man proves that he learned something in college besides social etiquette and athletics.

The facts in the case are that no man or woman ever left an institution of higher learning without some degree of mental improvement, that the serious side of college life is never seen by the public, while the lighter side is always on display and that very often getting an education is a struggle instead of a saturnalia of spending and sporting.

What stronger argument in favor of the college "struggle" is there than the statistics furnished by the employment bureau of the New York University? In this one institution 1,539 students in the past year earned $1,000,000 during the school term and vacation periods. One of these working students drew a salary of $7,500 a year while a student in the engineering department.

All colleges and universities report an increasing number of students working their way through school and as far as the number of college men and women who are not gaining at their studies is concerned, there is no American institution of higher education which will tolerate low scholastic standings. The individual student must be 75 per cent efficient or leave by request.

A college education needs no defense, as it is now almost universally accepted as a necessity. It may be criticized regarding its efficiency, but until all young men and women become 100 per cent efficient as students colleges and universities can not attain that perfection.

However, how many of those who condemn the college man for not working his way through school study while they are working for a livelihood. Studying is as much a man's job as shoveling. The extent to which the young people of this country have acquired faith in the value of higher education may be gathered from college enrollments which are now being made public. Smaller colleges as well as universities which have so far been heard from report heavy increases.

Despite some remarkable records in the past, it is certain that the enrollments this year will be greater than ever before. Even increased tuition and living costs in college towns are no bar. In the schools in which it was decided to resort to stiffer entrance examinations to keep down the enrollment even this has failed. The desire for higher education seems to overcome all obstacles.

A good share of the increased college enrollment is due to the fact that the value of a college education is becoming more widely recognized. No doubt the raising of standards of education even in high schools has much to do with it. Many parents who a decade ago were satisfied with a high school diploma for their children are no longer content with this minimum. They are applying to education the slogan so familiar in the field of business. "The best is the cheapest in the long run." The greatest asset a young man may start life with, in no matter what sphere, is education.

SLOGANS
Nowhere else on earth has the slogan or catch-phrase reached as high a stage of development as in the United States. By the same token the slogan does not play as considerable a part in the commercial, political and civic life of other peoples as it does of the Americans.

The editors of the American Mercury magazine find "the most certain way in which to impress, persuade and convince the American public about the virtue of anything, from a war to a pill, is first to devise a catchy slogan and, secondly, to make sure that it has in it only a minimum of accuracy."

We must agree with them that "Making the World Safe for Democracy" and "Liberty Loan" helped win the World war and that when we "Remembered the Maine" we gave Spain the worst beating since the Spanish Armada.

None will deny the value of the catch-phrase in national advertising and even in local commercialism. Everybody knows to what particular product you refer when you say "Babies cry for it." "There's a Picture Ahead." "His Master's Voice." "Is There a Little Fairy in Your Home?" and many other similar advertising slogans. In fact, few nationally known products are not sold under a copyrighted trade-phrase. Do you know of an automobile, from the cheapest to the most formidably-priced, that can not be singled out by some slogan? To think of one would be as difficult as finding a sloganless soap or city.

Slogans often sell where nothing else will, but it would be unjust to the public to say that it takes the catch-phrases at their word. Barnum annually proclaimed his circus as "bigger and better than ever," and his successors are emulating him today, but nobody goes to the circus just because of this "slight exaggeration." The catch-phrase or advertising slogan is as much a part of American business methods as advertising itself. There is nothing illegitimate in the institution, but its power as a salesman is almost supernatural.

The secret of Coue's power was that in getting people to constantly say they were "better and better in every way" he got them to thinking the same thing. The secret of the advertising slogan is that in getting people to use the slogan it gets them to use the product represented by the slogan.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION

Rigorous censorship fails to conceal the truth as to the gravity of the situation in Russia. A dispatch from Leningrad reveals that dissensions have arisen among the soldiers of Trotsky's Red army, while there is growing discontent among the peasantry. Revolution is recorded in South Russia. Except in maintaining an army to enforce communism on the people, sovietism has failed in every measure which it has undertaken. Its incompetency has been exposed at every turn. Sovietism survives only because a large strong army supports it. Much of great importance is happening right now in Russia. That country should be watched closely as a rarely interesting study. Bankruptcy could and probably would cause communism to collapse.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAL COCHRAN
LIFE
We are born: we laugh; we weep;
We love, we droop; we die!
Ah! wherefore do we laugh or weep?
Why do we live or die?
Who knows that secret deep?
Alas, not I!

Why doth the violet spring
Unseen by human eye?
Why do the radiant seasons bring
Sweet thoughts that quickly fly?
Why do our fond hearts cling
To things that die?

We toll—through pain and wrong;
We fight—and fly;
We love; we lose, and then, ere long,
Stone-dead we lie.
O life! 'tis all thy song
"Endure and—die!"

PUFFING IT UP
This is a talk about tobacco. You needn't read any further if you don't like to know the truth. The Brooklyn physicians, practicing what they preach, have been receiving personal health examinations. Their condition is found to compare very favorably with other groups similarly examined; in fact, the doctors of Brooklyn rate better than the average.

That is a most remarkable thing. As a rule, doctors are only so-so in their personal health status. The average physician gives his own health little consideration and constantly subordinates his own hygiene to the service of his patients. His life is regulated or rather disordered by the demands of his patients, his food, rest, social diversion and recreation are all subject to the whims or needs of the exacting public. Therefore, the physician can take much care of his own health even if he would, and my experience is that he generally wouldn't if he could.

One of the Brooklyn doctors undergoing the health examination demonstrated a fact I have pointed out here on more than one occasion. He was able to run his blood pressure up about 30 notches by smoking a cigarette.

Speaking of blood pressure, probably no other thing will so markedly raise the blood pressure as tobacco does. If you're a smoking hog, just put that in your pipe and draw what consolation you can from it.

A lot of men are hogs about tobacco. They're not about it, in fact. They smoke wherever the law permits smoking and with no regard whatever for the sensibilities of other persons who may not enjoy a second hand smoke. When a man is a tobacco hog he feels no finer motives or restraints but puffs away whenever and wherever he believes he can do so without being thrown out. A tobacco hog is much like a hog in other matters. He is not content with a smoke or two at the proper time; he must smoke all the time or every little while. Heavy, constant, inveterate, excessive smokers are exceedingly likely to develop grave cardiovascular disease in one form or another. The thoughtful man, be he a smoker or not, knows how very often tobacco excess proves the straw that turns the scale against recovery, say from pneumonia. Every physician knows that tobacco is a common cause of the gravest heart disease. How can any intelligent person doubt the poisonous effect of tobacco in view of the familiar consequences of its first smoke? How can any physician, unless his intelligence be benumbed by tobaccoism, question the harm done by excessive smoking? Any smoking in the course of a day's work is certainly excessive smoking. If a man can't keep his smoking until his day's work is done, he is simply enslaved to a drug habit. If a smoker can't get more enjoyment out of his smoking with the habit under his own control than he can as a weak victim of the habit, it is merely because his taste has been spoiled by indulgence.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Perils of the Second Summer.
Is it safe to take our baby on an auto trip to Wisconsin in September, when he is 4 months old, rather than wait until next summer, which will be his second summer? I have heard so much about the dangers of the second summer. (L. R. A.)
Answer.—If the baby is breast fed, it is safe to make the journey now. If he is artificially fed, there would be some risk involved in getting milk of unquestionable purity along the road. It would be better to boil all the milk for five minutes while on the journey, and of course provide proper means of keeping it refrigerated, say in a vacuum bottle. The alleged danger of the "second summer" are mythical. The second summer holds less perils than the infant has to meet the first summer. In the old days of faulty refrigeration or none, unclean milk and general ignorance of hygiene, babies naturally had a tough time of it the second summer, if they were hardy enough to survive the first. The breastfed babies escaped the chief perils the first summer, and the horribly high mortality among even the breastfed babies after they were weaned gave the "second summer" its evil reputation.

Unique Glass House Is Found In Yokohama

(From The Washington Star.)
One of the strangest domiciles on earth is that erected at Yokohama by a Japanese bacteriologist. It may be described as dust-proof, air-proof, germ-proof building of glass, which stands on the open, unshaded grounds of the hospital of Yokohama.
This house is 44 feet long, 23 feet wide and 17 feet high. Large panes of glass, one-half inch thick and about 4 inches apart, are set in iron frames s o as to form the sides of a cellular building block. Of these blocks the walls are constructed. There are no window sashes, the air escape being through several small openings around the upper part of the second story, but through which no air from the outside is admitted.
The air supply is obtained from a considerable distance, forced through a pipe and carefully filtered through cotton wool and to cleanse it of bacteria. To insure further protection and sterilization, the air is driven against a glycerin-coated plate of glass, which captures all the germs the wool spaces. The few germs brought into the house in the clothes of the visitors soon die in the warm sunlight with which the place is flooded.
The space between the glasses of the building blocks is filled with a solution of salts which absorbs the heat of the sun, so that the rooms of the house are much cooler than those protected by the thickest shades. In the evening the interior is heated by the salts radiating the heat they have absorbed during the day.
So effective is the system of regulating the temperature that a few hours of sunlight, even in freezing weather, will render the house habitable. It is only when several cloudy days follow in succession that artificial heat is needed. Then it is supplied by pumping in hot air.

Assembly Period in Fourth District Is Entirely in Their Hands

Seventh and eighth graders of the Fourth district school will have a chance to exercise all their initiative, ingenuity and social talents in the program outlined by F. B. Younger for the assembly hour which comes every Wednesday. Each week the students will have complete charge of the assembly hour, with absolutely no coaching or assistance of the teachers, and may have great liberty in their choice of subjects, method and style of presentation.

Wednesday was constitution day, a fact which few people were aware of. But the students under the chairmanship of Charles Bohmer planned a good program to celebrate the day. The hour began with the flag salute by the school. There were talks on "The History of the Constitutional Convention," by Irene Anholzer, "A Comparison of the Articles of Confederation and the Constitution," by Gordon Coon, "Civil Rights as Given to Us by the Amendments," by Delmont Bradford, "Abraham Lincoln on Observing the Constitution," by Ione Flentje, "The American Creed," by Leonard Burhans, and "The Preamble to the Constitution," by Charles Bohmer. The school closed the program by singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

A committee of five was chosen by the students to take charge of the program for the coming Wednesdays. Their term of office is not definite, and will be changed when they run out of ideas. The committee consists of Raymond Renier, chairman; Charles Bohmer, Edward Koerner, Dale Clifford and Elmer Jansen.

Gay Colored Wall Papers Are Delight

The new wall papers are delightful and preferred by many to painted walls. For the hallway that is dim and dreary there are landscape papers in delicate shades. They give quite an outdoor feeling, the perspective of the pattern broadens the passage and warm tones give life and color. There are, too, cheery old-fashioned chintz patterns in rambling designs that are most friendly.

Many of these same papers can also be used in living rooms. There are also delicate stripe patterns, effective where the ceiling is low, full of quiet dignity and repose. And then there are the delightful foliage patterns, very quiet and restrained. Perhaps one of the most interesting living room papers is one showing Chinese incense burner with little pagodas and tiny drooping trees against a background resembling grass cloth.

Then there are fascinating bird and flower designs in blues and yellows that can be used successfully in almost any kind of living room. Their color and gaiety give an interest to the walls that quite transforms the entire room. Both hall and living room papers show a decided vogue for color and pattern.

WAR DEPARTMENT ORDERS HEARINGS ON FLOOD CONTROL

Schneider's Bill in Congress Results in Investigation of High Water

Public hearings as a result of a bill introduced by Congressman George J. Schneider and passed by the last session of congress will be held in Appleton, Duck Creek and Shiocton early in October with reference to the flood situation of the Fox and Wolf rivers.

The Appleton hearing will take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Oct. 9 in the council chambers of the city hall. Mayor Goodland has received a letter from Gilbert Van B. Wilkes, in charge of the war department district engineering office at Milwaukee, requesting that the room be reserved for the hearing on that day.

Another hearing will be held at 1:30 on the following day at Duck Creek on the same matter and a third hearing will take place at 1:30 at Shiocton in the high school, according to information received by Mayor Goodland.

Mr. Schneider's bill authorizing and directing a preliminary survey with a view to control of floods on the Wolf and Fox rivers was approved on May 31, 1924. The hearings are a part of the investigation undertaken.

All interested parties are invited to be present or to be represented, particularly those interested in flood control and the effects upon navigation and waterpower and also the officials of any county, city, town, or local association in the district, whose interests may be affected by the proposed improvements.

Oral statements will be heard but for the accuracy of record all important facts, arguments, and statistics should be submitted in writing in triplicate, as the record of the hearings will be forwarded for consideration by the war department.

Artist-Mayor Wars On Jazz As Cause Of Crime

Wilkes-Barre, Pa. — This thriving mining city suddenly has appeared upon the map as the anti-jazz capital of America.

It has remained for a sooty-skied symbol of the machine age to become the scene of a finish fight between the classical and syncopated forms of music.

And all because Wilkes-Barre has for mayor—an artist. Dan Hart is his name and he is in deadly earnest. He personally wrote the ordinance that would sing the swan song of syncopation. This ordinance already has had its first reading. Soon it will be voted on.

He looks upon jazz as immoral. To his ears its jerky rhythm is anathema and its effect upon humans insidious and virulent.

And by maintaining an unflinching stand he has set the musical world vibrating discordantly between staccato laughter and crescendo denunciation.

Some of America's great musical artists have taken up the syncopated standard.

Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Philharmonic, announces "Jazz has come to stay because it is an expression of the times. Its rhythm is a perfect expression of life as it is today."

But Mayor Hart is not to be budged. He says he has first-hand evidence and stands pat.

No reformer or "blue-law" gent is Dan Hart. He is known far and wide as a "most liberal" mayor. For instance, he would good beer for the miners and has not been afraid to say so. He has refused to allow any Sunday laws to interfere with amusements and has gone to bat on this matter more than once.

"First of all," he says in stating his case, "tell the people I'm not a nut."

Old-time theatergoers may remember the name. For Dan Hart wrote

MAYOR HART

"The Parish Priest," the greatest money maker of its time and one of the four or five biggest financial successes of all time. He made a fortune from his play writings.

Happy Valley has always been his home. He was born here in 1866.

Then why this anti-jazz attitude if he has been a theatrical man?

"Well," explains Mayor Hart, gray-blue eyes wandering under heavy lashes, "I'll tell you how it is. Down in their hearts people don't want it."

"Then there's the moral side of it. The dancing, I mean. You see, I keep in close touch with the courts. Looking over the records I find out

Death Takes Midget Who Led Eagles

Eagles of Wisconsin are without their midget, Edward Pechl, who was popular at every convention and enabled Appleton to win the prize twice for having the smallest Eagle member in the state.

Pechl, known familiarly as "Little Eddie" was a resident of Combined Locks for about seven years, staying at the boarding house of the papermill there. He died in Marinette Monday, according to word received here.

Appleton Eagles usually took Pechl with them and used him to head their column in the parades. He stood hardly three feet tall.

most of the trouble between men and girls nowadays is started at some dance where they do those sensuous wild savage dances to the tune of jazz. That music is savage; it has a direct brute appeal.

"Here we have a mining community. The men are vigorous, muscled, primal—many a bit wild. They come out of the mines and wander to the dances. The orchestra strikes up the primitive, barbaric music—no wonder these men get away from themselves. You'd be surprised the amount of trouble it has caused."

"Jazz has done more harm than drink ever did. It is designed for naked, wriggling savages."

OPENING DAY AT WEYAUWEGA FAIR BRINGS THOUSANDS

Speed Program and Free Acts Produce Amusement For Huge Crowds

BY W. F. WINSEY
According to the statement of A. C. Ewald, treasurer of the Wauwau County Agricultural association, approximately 3,000 people attended the county fair at Weyauwega on Wednesday, the opening day, exclusive of the evening.

Some of the outstanding features of the exhibits are township displays of garden and field products in which each township in the county is represented, the large number of local breeds of purebred dairy cattle, an unusual number of purebred horses owned in Waupaca, a comprehensive display of the work of the county public schools, and an exceptionally attractive display of art and fancy work. Most of these features of the fair are a credit to the county and would attract attention where competition in such lines is the sharpest in the state.

The afternoon program consisted of a number of free acts in front of the grandstand and speed events. For skill displayed by the performers and thrills produced, the free acts were accorded the boldest approval of the vast audience. The races were a 230 trot with seven entries and 214 pace with nine entries. The purse in each race was $300 and added money.

Dr. A. F. Schrage, Plymouth, acted as starter.

In the 230 trot, Bing Tell won first money at the close of five heats winning the first, fourth and fifth heats. Amsterdam won second money, leading the third heat and coming in second in the fourth and fifth heats, and Edna Todd won third money, taking first place in the second heat. The time was 2:21 1/4, 2:20 3/4, 2:20 3/4 and 2:20 3/4.

The results of this race were:
Maritana—Fenlon 7 7 6
Edna Todd—Sternemann 5 1 5 3 3
Progress Laddie—Porter 4 2 3 4
Bing Tell—Perrin 1 3 2 1 1
Black River Boy—Clem 2 5 7
Amsterdam—Radtke 5 6 1 2 2
Juanita—Streich 3 4 4

California Patch won the 214 pace in three straight heats. The time was 2:15, 2:14 1/4, and 2:13 1/4. "Saddle F" took second place in the first and second heats and owing to damaging a wheel, ninth place in the third heat. She won second money notwithstanding the accident. Zozzo won third money.

The results were:
Saddle F—Fenlon 2 2 9
Earl Brooks—Sternemann 2 3 3
Dr. B.—Porter 8 9 7
Sir Wainingham—Schrage 5 4 5

Razed Store Revives Tale Of Hot Fight

The building at the east end of the alley in block 28, formerly occupied by Comerford & Clark and recently purchased by Lawrence Lutz has just been dismantled. It was built more than 50 years ago and most of the lumber is well preserved. Old settlers are somewhat hazy as to its origin, but for nearly 40 years it was occupied by Mr. Comerford as a livery stable and by Comerford & Clark as a feed store.

The frame building adjoining which was built a few years previous to the one torn down was the scene of a bloody battle between lumbermen and business men of Appleton 55 years ago, according to Joseph Koffend, Sr. Mr. Koffend said the lumbermen got into a fight among themselves and when the city marshal interfered they pitched on him. He called for help and a group of businessmen and manufacturers, after arming themselves with axehandles secured at Galpin's hardware store, made a charge on the lumbermen and cleaned them up in short order. Three were found several hours later in the hayloft of the building.

If Uncle Sam Owned the Railroads?

The LaFollette platform calls for government ownership of railroads. The LaFollette campaign is to be conducted with special appeal to the farmer vote, especially the farmer vote of the Northwest states.

There arises the question: Do the farmers wish the government to own and operate the railroads?

A very illuminating editorial on the subject of government ownership of railroads in its bearing on taxes appears in the August 30 number of "The Country Gentleman."

Government-owned railroads and railroad property, like federal buildings, would be exempt from taxation by states, counties or municipalities. On this phase of the subject the editorial referred to comments in parts as follows:

That would mean a loss of $3,425,892 tax revenue for Minnesota; $7,321,876 for Wisconsin; $6,849,703 for Iowa; $6,739,346 for Kansas; $5,365,980 for Nebraska; $4,675,593 for Montana, and $4,072,282 for North Dakota.

These losses, which would have to be made up by increased taxes on other forms of property, are equivalent to $32 for every farm, or $2.80 for every man, woman and child in Iowa.

To $40 for every farm and $3.90 for every person in Minnesota.

To $52.40 for every farm or $5.30 for every person in North Dakota.

And to $31.25 for every farm or $3.50 for every person living in Montana.

These figures in every case are based on official records.

The bulk of more than $300,000,000 annually distributed by the railroads in taxes goes to the states and counties—$248,605,094 out of $300,452,723 in 1922, and a still larger amount last year.

It is pointed out that drying up railroad taxes would have a particularly adverse effect on the agricultural states, notably those of the Northwest.

"On the basis of the 1923 collection," says the treasurer of Rosebud county, Montana, "the loss of railroad taxes would increase the levy on remaining property 55 per cent, thereby becoming an unbearable burden on the taxpayer."

For a dozen North Dakota counties, chosen at random, abolition of railroad taxes would increase general tax levies from 8.86 per cent to 23.47 per cent.

Says the editor of "The Country Gentleman":

"Railroad taxes, in effect, have acted as a medium for equalizing the social balance between the newer localities and the older and richer industrial regions. It is in these older and richer regions that most of the stockholders of the railroads reside. So railroad taxes act as a means of siphoning funds from these regions to pay for improvements in localities that could not otherwise afford them at this time."

Some may contend that there would be for the farmers a compensation for the loss of railroad taxes in the fact of lowered freight rates under government ownership and operation. The credulity that underlies this argument is of a part with the credulity of the child that goes in quest of the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. What is there in the transportation experience of the country to bolster this placid faith? What has there been in the spirit and workings of American political affairs to give it substance?

Not only would hundreds of millions of state and local revenue in taxes cease with government ownership of the railroads, but federal taxes would go up to take care of interest and principal on the purchase price of the properties. As between the West and the East, as between the farm community and the industrial community, the former has the greater reason for backing away from the LaFollette platform proposal regarding the railroads.

COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACT TO PAVE LEMINWAH STREET

Koepke Brothers Will Begin
Work at Once—Adjust Alley
Matter

Koepke Brothers of Appleton were at Wednesday's council meeting awarded the contract to pave Leminwah-st, following a recommendation by the board of public works which had previously opened the bids and found this firm's bid of $14,251.94 to be the lowest of those submitted.

The type of pavement to be constructed in the three blocks between Pacific-st and Wisconsin-ave will be concrete with the vibratile process. This will be the first vibratile pavement in Appleton and will serve somewhat as an experiment.

This is the third time bids for the paving of Leminwah-st were accepted, Simpson and Parker having the best bid for the first time, and Koepke Brothers a second and third times. Red tape and a desire to obtain lower bids were the reasons for rejecting bids and advertising three times. The paving project will be undertaken as soon as possible in order to complete it before the approach of cold weather. Sewer and other connections had already been completed earlier in the summer. This street and Pacific-st east from Rankin-st will be marked as arterial highways.

REVISE ALLEY GRADE
Final determinations on the paving of the alley in block 8, second ward, which is the one bounded by College-ave, Appleton-st, Lawrence-st and Superior-st, was made and the grade established by the city engineer was accepted. This will raise the level of the east end of the alley about one foot higher than its present grade. L. M. Schindler, engineer appearing for John Dengel asked to have the grade raised two additional feet to improve the Dengel property. A raise of three feet, however, was considered too high and too weak a foundation for the pavement. Mr. Dengel protested vigorously and accused the aldermen of partiality.

Alderman Thompson took exception to Mr. Dengel's charge that the city is destroying his property. He demanded to know how the city would be destroying his property when it is raising his alley even one foot above the present grade. The property owner seemed to consider the filling in on other properties abutting on the alley.

The alley was condemned for street purposes as early as four years ago, but the city failed to acquire it because Mr. Dengel refused to accept the check for his share until this year.

Louis Waltman has the contract for paving the alley, and work has already begun.

PAVE ANOTHER ALLEY

Another alley will be paved this year as a result of a petition of property owners. This is the alley in block 25, second ward, at the rear of the Whedon-bldg. Paving was not contemplated until next year because of an agreement with Lawrence Lutz that he need not remove his building until that time. Now it has developed that practically all the property owners have agreed to have the alley paved this year. The specifications previously submitted were adopted and the project referred to the board of public works Wednesday night.

The bid of R. J. Wilson Co. for installing a sewer on State-st and the bid of R. Schaefer for installing a sewer on Bennett-st were accepted. A number of bids on furnishing the city with a power grader were referred to the street and bridge committee with power to act.

A license was granted to the Gray Bus company to operate a bus between Appleton and Green Bay.

A request from the high school board of education for a loan of $7,000 until Feb. 1 was granted.

Action was taken to serve notice on the Interlake Pulp and Paper company to remove the pulpwood hanging over Newberry-st lest it result in some serious accident.

WANT SIDING REMOVED

An ordinance was introduced to repeal ordinance No. 153 which originally gave the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company permission to build a spur from the main line across Cherry-st near College-ave. The spur is to be removed if the ordinance passes. Another ordinance forbidding the erection of roof signs was introduced. Both were referred to the ordinance committee and ordered published.

George F. Peotter, building inspector, reported complaints coming from College-ave businessmen and lodged against the sandblasting of buildings, which, it was said, is doing damage to fabrics in stores. Since the firm engaged in this business has three more jobs in the block affected, Mr. Peotter wanted to know what should be done about it. Inasmuch as sandblasting was regarded as an improvement to the property, the council seemed loath to refuse the company street permits, but several aldermen suggested that permits be issued to do the work only at night, when the doors and windows of the stores would be closed. Others suggested that the operator be covered with a canvas. The complaint was referred to the board of public works with power to act.

Alderman L. O. Hansen presented three samples of building numbers. He desired the council to select one and then purchase numbers for all buildings in the city, the money to be taken from the general fund. The best sample submitted would cost the city about $5,000, he said. The matter was referred to the street committee with instructions to procure more samples and report at the next meeting.

VALLEY SPORTSMEN

FISH LAW CHANGES

Open Season on Still Fishing
Will Be Urged at Meeting at Oshkosh

Sportsmen of Outagamie-co are invited to attend a meeting of the Fox River Valley Fish and Game Protective association which will take place at Oshkosh at 7:30 Monday evening for the purpose of adopting a legislative program to be presented at the next session of legislature. Holdovers legislators and candidates for legislative offices from all over the Fox river valley also have been urged to attend.

The association hopes to restore hook and line fishing in Lake Winnebago and tributary waters for the whole year. It also seeks an open season of one month on sturgeon which have been protected for the last seven or eight years. The third bill advocated is the conversion of all license money for game protective purposes. The association further advocates an amendment changing the word "may" to "shall" in the law which authorizes the conservative commission to catch and sell rough fish, the proceeds of the sale to be used to defray the expenses of clearing the waters of rough fish.

OLD INDIAN SCOUT HELPS
FILM PRAIRIE MASSACRE

An Indian attack on a prairie caravan is one of the best scenes in "Pioneer Trails," a Vitaphone special production at the New Bijou Theater today, Friday and Saturday. David Smith, director of the picture, has reproduced in this sequence one of the more famous Indian massacres, preserving carefully every historical detail.

To insure that the attack be historically correct, Mr. Smith availed himself of the services of an old Indian scout, "Pop" King, who is ninety years old, is the sole survivor of a group that started to California in the gold rush of 1849. All the others were killed off during an Indian attack, in which King, thought dead, was scalped. He was rescued later and brought back to health.

King made the trip when he was seventeen years old. According to his story, the vanguard of the train hurried back to the main body when the Indians were discovered, evidently on the war path. The defense was speedily formed by drawing up the carts into a circle. Boxes, trunks bedding and other baggage were packed into the openings between the wagons.

Hardly had the barricade been completed when they were surrounded by the fast riding, yelling Indians. After several hours battle practically every member of the party was either killed or wounded. The Indians broke through the ring.

The next thing he knew he was lying on a cot in a military barracks, his head in bandage. He had been picked up by a troop of cavalry sent in pursuit of the marauding Indians. King had been scalped. He was one of the few men that survived such an experience.

Five cases under the workmen's compensation act are scheduled for hearing by an examiner of the state industrial commission at the court-house on Sept. 26. The cases are as follows: Shady Mansour vs. Wisconsin Cabinet and Panel Co; Anton Peters vs. Appleton Wood Products Co; Adolph Ristau vs. Chicago and North-western Railway Co; Edward Worm vs. Hutton Lumber Co; Levi Huntley vs. Hutton Lumber Co.

King proved quite helpful in the making of the caravan scenes in "Pioneer Trails." His knowledge and experience helped Mr. Smith in correctly portraying an Indian attack, which forms one of the most thrilling sequences ever made.

PICTURE COST NEAR A MILLION

Continuing its policy of presenting to the local picturegoers the biggest of cinematic productions, the Elite Theatre on Monday presents for the first time Frank Lloyd's First National Picture "The Sea Hawk," adapted from the best seller by Rafael Sabatini, author of "Scaramouche," and regarded by critics and producers as the greatest sea story ever brought to the silver sheet.

Dealing with a spectacular romance and the piracy of the late Sixteenth Century English, Spanish and Moors, "The Sea Hawk" is reputed to possess an extraordinary amount of thrilling incidents, red blooded action and tender romance amid many quaint and massive settings and in the hands of the producer of "Ashes of Venice," "Les Miserables," "Black Oxen" and "Madame X," the Sabatini narrative is said to have lost none of its highly entertaining drama, but rather to have been greatly enhanced in its adaptation to the screen.

The transfer of Mr. Sabatini's original epic to the screen has made necessary the expenditure of nearly a million dollars, the building of a fleet of four masted sailing ships of the Sixteenth Century, $85,000 in wardrobe and the use of over a thousand men in some of the brilliant naval combats; yet its previewers state, "The Sea Hawk" is bigger than just the investment which has made it possible. Indeed one of the truly great masterpieces of the films, with thrilling action and big situations to make each succeeding reel more fascinating than its predecessor.

Milton Sill plays the dual character of Sir Oliver Tressilian and Sakrel Bahr, the hawk of the sea, and Enid Bennett is seen as his fiancée, Rosamund Godolphin. Lloyd Hughes assumes a character part for the first time in his meteoric screen career, playing Lionel, Oliver's brother, and Wallace Beery essays the role of Jasper Leigh, a renegade who kidnaps Oliver from England and later returns there with him as his faithful lieutenant. Frank Crisler, Marc MacDermott, Wallace MacDonald, Mrs. Medea Radzina, Kathleen Key, Lionel Belmore, Claire du Brey, Fred de Silva, Hector V. Sarno, Bobbie Bolder, Christine Montt, Albert Prisco, Kate Price and Louis Morrison are others prominent in the big cast.

Tourists Can't Brand
Appleton A Speed Trap

Appleton occupies an interesting place in the traffic survey taken of Wisconsin cities by the Milwaukee Journal. While there is a great diversity of traffic regulations among the different cities, conditions on Appleton streets receive quite favorable comment.

In regard to courtesy shown tourists by Wisconsin cities, it is pointed out, "Appleton has warned hundreds of tourists and advised them of local regulations, but that city has not arrested a single tourist either in 1923 or thus far in 1924. That's an enviable record." It is held that tourists should not be arrested for minor infractions of local traffic laws, since they do not know what those regulations are. The Appleton policy is followed to a considerable extent in most Wisconsin cities.

Although Appleton has enacted no parking ordinance, certain parking regulations have been in use here for several years. In this city "all street intersections are kept clear of parked cars, and signs warn the motorist where parking is prohibited," the report on the survey sets forth. Milwaukee's parking regulations are considered so confusing that even those who drafted them have forgotten where the legal and where the forbidden parking areas are. In some cities, as in Appleton, automobiles parked in forbidden areas, are tagged by the police, and the drivers ordered to report at the police station, where they are informed of the infraction.

If Appleton was not among the first cities to adopt the arterial highway system, and if the type of sign used here does not conform to the standard recommended by the state highway commission, residents and tourists are

BUILD HIGH VOLT
LINE TO BONDUEL

Construction of a 33,000-volt high tension electric light and power line has been undertaken by the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co. between Nichols and Bonduel The company recently took over the property of the Badger Utility Co. of that community.

The new line will extend from Nichols to Bonduel, thence westerly along the Pleshek-rd to the power plant in Shawano. A 33,000-volt substation will be erected in Bonduel. From this station the second source of electric current will be supplied. Expenditure for the new line will be in the neighborhood of $75,000. Completion is expected sometime next month.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN
CONVENE IN NORWAY

University women here are interested in the biennial conference of the International Federation of University Women which met recently in Christiania, Norway. The most interesting feature of the convence was the report of membership percentages in the different countries represented at the convention. Many countries have a membership of from 75 to 100 per cent of their university women, while America has only from 10 to 15 per cent. However, that small percentage amounts to 20,000 women. 3,000 of whom have been added to the lists since Sept. 1, 1923.

All university women who visit Washington are invited to visit the national and international clubhouse where so many women of note from foreign lands have been welcomed and entertained. Women of Washington have assumed the responsibility for the financial side of the club and the business of the association is transacted with the Washington club as the central office. Service and information for University women are gladly and efficiently given and cooperation is extended to other national organizations from this office.

LETTER FROM ALICE HAMILTON TO BETTY (LADY CARNOVAN). CONTINUED

Edgerly Santly seemed more impressed than the usual man with my sisters' fascinations, although from their speech I gathered that he had never seen her but once or twice. It seemed that at that time he promised her, or rather informed her, that he was soon going to Albany, but he has not been able to make it. However, he insisted that business would call him there soon.

He had known Ruth Ellington, a friend of Leslie's, very well, and he had promised himself to visit Mrs. Ellington in the near future. "Promised himself," I thought. "What Edgerly Santly really had promised himself was a visit to Albany and a flirtation with my sister."

This Leslie abetted innocently by saying:

"Yes, do come over soon. Ruth will be glad to see you, and we will make it as pleasant for you as possible."

I gave Karl a significant glance, which was thrown away, as Karl, you know, never suspects anything; but I intend to open his eyes later.

I asked Edgerly when he had heard from his sister—told him we had seen her just before we sailed, and that I hoped to have her over here some time during the summer. He didn't seem enthusiastic over it; in fact, I found him much more Americanized as to manner. I think you would hardly know him, Betty.

I'm filing this entire letter up with descriptions and impressions of my sister Leslie, which naturally would be my first reaction in America. I never realized, however, how far we had grown apart. She seems quite horrified at some of my ideas, especially the ones which I have been very frank in discussing what I am going to do as Karl's wife.

"I'm afraid, Alice," she said, "you will find marriage very different from what you think it is. One has to love a man very much to be able to live with him at all, and I presume it is the same way with a man. The constant familiarity of married life is both its joy and its tragedy."

"What do you mean by that, Leslie?" I asked.

"I mean," she answered, "that there is a feeling which comes to a wife that no other woman can know—a feeling of having someone that must protect her, who is literally a part of her. No matter how near are any of your blood relatives, they have separate interests which are paramount, but you and your welfare are the paramount interest of your husband. That is her joy. The constant familiarity of married life breeds satiety and restlessness; that is her tragedy."

Hasn't she old-fashioned ideas? I'm going to sign this letter—it's already too long. Will write you soon again.

ALICE.

"We're spending our vacation," said Toby. "And we came from home."

"Ha, ha, ha! Isn't that funny," laughed Weeny. "We're spending our vacation, too, but it's all we are

National League Flag Hopes Hang On Tilts Scheduled Thursday

Yanks Again Jump to Tie With Washington When They Win Two From Browns While Senators Take One.

With the Giants, Robins and Pirates playing doubleheaders, the National league pennant may be won or lost Thursday.

By winning twice, should Brooklyn and Pittsburgh lose two, the Giants would increase their lead over the Pirates and over the latter to four and one half—an apparently safe margin with an average of ten games left for each club to play.

But by losing two while their rivals won a brace, New York would fall a half game behind Brooklyn into second place, only a half contest ahead of the Pirates and into a battle royal which might go into the closing minutes of the season.

Either Pittsburgh or Brooklyn would virtually fall out of the race by losing two if the others won twice.

In the meantime Washington and New York are plying in a sustained wrestling match which the team with the last ounce of strength seems destined to win. The Yankees, by winning twice from the Browns Wednesday night, have taken a lead over Cleveland once again tied for first place.

In the emergency, the harassed managers will shoot their heaviest guns. The struggles at the Polo Grounds will find McGraw's brace of southpaws—the veteran Nehf and the youthful Bentley—opposed to Rixey and Luque of the Reds.

At Brooklyn, Manager Robinson will send the eminent Dazzy Vance in quest of his fifteenth straight victory. Bill Doak will be the second Robin hurler to chip brilliantly at the Cards. Yogi, the sensational southpaw recruit, and probably Meadows, will walk to the hill for McKee of the Pittsburgh hopes against the Phillies.

Walter Johnson, for whom Manager Harris and his spirited Senators are trying to win an opportunity for a world series start, continued to uphold his major responsibilities in the Washington drive by holding Cleveland to seven hits Wednesday and winning his thirteenth straight victory of the year by a score of 3 to 2.

Waite Hoyt weathered a storm to win the first Yankee victory at St. Louis. He was touched for 12 hits but his mates converted their nine of Urban Shocker into a 7 to 3 triumph. In the second, the world champions slugged five Brown hurlers for 15 hits and an 8 to 7 decision.

Detroit fell six games behind the two leaders when the Athletics drove Holloway from the box in the ninth inning rally which earned four runs and a 9 to 6 victory. The White Sox traded last place to Boston by launching a heavy assault upon Ferguson which gave them a 3 to 2 game over the Red Sox.

OSHKOSH HIGH PLANS NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Oshkosh—After four years of effort the Oshkosh High School Athletic association has obtained funds sufficient to justify first steps toward obtaining an athletic field and an option has been taken on a piece of city property near the Winnebago county fair grounds, 300 by 562 feet in size. The purchase will be effective within a year, it is believed.

A quarter mile track, four tennis courts and a football field within the oval are among the immediate features planned.

RAY SCHALK'S CATCHING RECORD SOON WILL STOP

Ray Schalk's great record for catching 100 or more games each season is soon to pass into the discard. Schalk for 10 consecutive years has performed in 100 or more games each year for the White Sox. Numerous injuries this season made it impossible to come through. He had hoped to stretch the record to 12 years.

MALONE OUTPOINTS FORMER CHAMPION

By Associated Press
St. Paul, Minn.—Outpunching his opponent in a majority of the rounds, Jock Malone of St. Paul won the newspaper decision over Johnny Wilson of Boston, former middleweight champion of the world, in their ten-round contest here Wednesday night.

The program was staged as part of the entertainment for the American Legion convention here and Malone, a former serviceman, demonstrated his superiority over Wilson, who recently knocked out Malone in the sixth round at Boston.

Either Pittsburgh or Brooklyn would virtually fall out of the race by losing two if the others won twice.

ROD AND REEL

Don't put the little jinx working by purchasing a cheap casting line. This has been the downfall of many a novice at the bait tossing game, and it is a false piece of economy to purchase a line that is below price at which an angler knows a manufacturer can put the material into it to make the line stand up under the hard grueling of running back and forth through the guide without weakening it to some extent, and doing the parting act when a game fish is being played.

The soft braided silk line makes an ideal casting line and will not kink nor wear a blister on the thumb like its hard braided brother and then too, it will not curl up or kink when running off the spool.

The bait tasser should select lines wisely and one that appeals to him as being a good silk line. A little waterproofing will lengthen the life of any line to a certain extent and an ordinary silk line can be made more durable with the addition of a little oil soaked into the silk and then wiping off the surplus. Some of the waterproofed lines that are put out at the present time are somewhat stiff and have to be worked with a few casts before they become limbered up. This is due to the heavy waterproofing used by the manufacturer and I have found

HITLESS HERO SAYS GOOD CONTROL GAVE HIM RECORD BATTLE

Nothing Unusual About His Speed, Haines Says, but Arm and Eye Were Good

A "no-hit" pitcher instead of saying he "had more stuff than any in his life that day" quietly remarks that it was control that did the work. On July 17, this season, Jesse Haines of the St. Louis Cardinals featured the first no-hit game in the National League in more than two years with a 5 to 0 score against the Boston Braves.

The last one was May 7, 1922, with Jesse Barnes, then with the Giants, pitching the record box score against the Phillies.

Haines walked three batters. They were the only base runners to get on. Cardinals rendering perfect support.

There was but one difficult chance offered in the game, a liner by Gus Felix in the third inning which went straight to Rogers Hornsby's glove.

"STUFF" WAS ORDINARY
"Pitching is peculiar," remarked the no-hit hero. "There was nothing unusual about my speed that afternoon. I started as I always do—trying the corners with my curve on the outside to the right-handed hitters and keeping the fast one close to the handle of the bat."

"And it just happened that I had almost perfect control that afternoon. The latters were catching the curve while it was breaking and were unable to get a solid smash on it while they just touched the fast ball with the handle and my infielders attended to the rest."

"As long as I have been pitching I have never thought about a no-hit game when starting. My only desire is to win the ball game. I fanned Cunningham and Stengel in the first inning and Bob Smith and O'Neil in the third. As we scored one in the first and third I did not pay any attention to the no-hit stuff until the start of the seventh inning."

ANOTHER HITLESS STRETCH
"With six hitless innings naturally I tried to finish it and I pitched with extreme care in the last three rounds. My control won the battle for me."

Haines has a no-hit stretch longer than the one against the Braves in his pitching in the National League but it is not found in the record books. Three years ago, in a 17-inning game with the Chicago Cubs, he covered 9 2-3 innings without allowing a hit.

This is Haines' fourth year in the National League. He was bought by the Cardinals for $15,000 from Kansas City although he won only five and lost nine games in the American Association.

T was in the Army-Notre Dame game of 1917 that the play I have decided was the greatest I have ever seen in football was pulled.

Throughout the first half, the West Pointers had outplayed us and, as a consequence, were leading 2 to 0. But in the second half our running attack worked from mid-field to the Army seven-yard line, mainly through the passing and goal to make.

Notre Dame took time out to plan the next move. As I have said, it had been Gipp, Gipp, Gipp in the march down the field and now it was Gipp again who saw the way to a touchdown. Army would watch him closely on this last, all-important play. Gipp felt confident of that. So he suggested a bold stroke.

The quarterback barked. The ball as snapped and Gipp and the fullback went breaking into the line—but not with the ball. Brandy, another back, had that and he was catapulting madly, unescorted, in an opposite direction. In fact, so engrossed were the West Pointers with stopping Gipp that Brandy was across the line before he was even seen.

The cheers that went up were for Brandy, for the public seems to watch only the ball-carrier. But equal credit at least belongs to Gipp for his brilliant headwork, and to the linemen who opened the hole for Brandy.

With put over that touchdown, just as they do in business or anywhere. The lesson it teaches also applies universally. Don't devote all your attention to one man. KEEP YOUR EYES ON THE BALL.

PACKERS GET SET FOR HARD GATTLE WITH BEAR SQUAD

Green Bay Gridders Will Seek Revenge for Last Year's 3-0 Defeat

Green Bay—The Bears are coming here Sunday. This means as much to the football fans as the world's greatest circus does to the youth of the short pants age.

"Wait until next year." That was the thought of some 4,000 followers of the Packers team last fall when George Halas and his tribe of Bruins walked off with a "horseshoe, 3 to 0 victory over the big Bay Blues.

SUNDAY AT BELLEVUE PARK
Well, the time is close at hand. Sunday, the Windy City footballers will give battle to the Packers at Bellevue park. It is one of the big games of the season at home. If the Packers can hurdle this obstacle, they will be headed straight for national honors on the gridiron.

Last season when the Bears played here about 4,200 jammed Bellevue park and a bigger crowd is looked for on Sunday. The reserved seat tickets will be placed on sale Wednesday and those desiring seats better make their reservations immediately as the pasteboards are sure to go like hot cakes. The reservations can be made at the usual places about town.

PACKERS MAKING READY
The Packers squad resumed their drill Monday morning and every player reported to Capt. Lambeau in good shape. Buland's shoulder will be in shape long before Sunday while Basing's ankle is again in playing condition. The backer players know what a victory in Sunday's game means and the gridders are determined to give the Bears all they are looking for and possibly a little bit more.

Word has been received from George Halas, manager of the Bears, that he will bring a great team here. Many of last year's stars are again in force. These include George Traffon, Hank Anderson, Brute Garvey, Dutch Stenamer, who coached and captained the Duluth club last year, is back again with the Bears.

In a letter to the Packer management, Halas had this to say: "You can tell your football fans that we will have a great machine and I am certain that we will repeat last year's success."

HOSTILE CLUBS PROFIT
BY JOE BUSH'S WINDUP

American League clubs this year have been taking advantage of Joe Bush's weakness in holding runners on the bases. The Yankee star has a peculiar windup that permits the baserunner to get a big jump on him. Clubs that are wise to his style have profited greatly thereby.

PLAYERS, FANS WILL HONOR DEAD PILOT

Chicago—Baseball fans and players planned to halt Thursday's game here between the Chicago White Sox and the Boston Americans for one minute at the time the funeral services of Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago club this year, and 1923 Boston pilot, are held in Los Angeles.

With bowed heads the occupants of Comiskey park will stand in silence in tribute to the memory of the diamond chieftain.

Baltimore—Benny Schwartz, Baltimore bantamweight, defeated Mike Moran of Pittsburgh in 12 rounds.

Marks, Handy. Sacrifice hits—Wurth, Noble. Bases on ball—off Noble, 5; off Friday, 1; off Marks 1. Struck out—by Noble 5; by Marks 2. Wild pitch—Noble. Double play—Handy to Leopold to Muench.

Notre Dame University Coach

T was in the Army-Notre Dame game of 1917 that the play I have decided was the greatest I have ever seen in football was pulled.

Throughout the first half, the West Pointers had outplayed us and, as a consequence, were leading 2 to 0. But in the second half our running attack worked from mid-field to the Army seven-yard line, mainly through the passing and goal to make.

Notre Dame took time out to plan the next move. As I have said, it had been Gipp, Gipp, Gipp in the march down the field and now it was Gipp again who saw the way to a touchdown. Army would watch him closely on this last, all-important play. Gipp felt confident of that. So he suggested a bold stroke.

The quarterback barked. The ball as snapped and Gipp and the fullback went breaking into the line—but not with the ball. Brandy, another back, had that and he was catapulting madly, unescorted, in an opposite direction. In fact, so engrossed were the West Pointers with stopping Gipp that Brandy was across the line before he was even seen.

The cheers that went up were for Brandy, for the public seems to watch only the ball-carrier. But equal credit at least belongs to Gipp for his brilliant headwork, and to the linemen who opened the hole for Brandy.

With put over that touchdown, just as they do in business or anywhere. The lesson it teaches also applies universally. Don't devote all your attention to one man. KEEP YOUR EYES ON THE BALL.

Kromer Club Plays Colts In Milwaukee

"Stormy" Kromer Sunday afternoon will take his Kaukauna youngsters to Milwaukee to battle Charlie Stocks Colts, pennant winners for two years. The Milwaukee players are in the 19-year old class, only players who were 19 years of age or under being eligible at the opening of the season. They have won every game played this season, and claim they are superior to any team in the State league. They scored a hard won victory over the McCoy-Nolan Giants early

Ads That Are Nomads

The term "Nomad"-which is applied to members of tribes who continually rove from place to place-may be just as appropriately applied to A-B-C Classified Ads.

You just can't keep these classified ads from moving here and there, in and out, all over this part of the country.

To be sure, most of them confine their roving to Appleton and the territory which immediately surrounds it-yet some of them make themselves heard at surprisingly distant points.

And the best thing about these nomads is that they are not purposeless wanderers. At all times they have a fixed aim-which is to bring opportunity to those who wish to receive it.

If you are interested in opportunity, you'll find its bearings-a whole tribe of them-in the A-B-C Classified Section every day.

FINANCIAL

Business Opportunities 38
GROCERY STORE-And meat market doing about $80,000 business in the last year, located about 45 miles from Appleton. Large store building with living rooms above. Owner will take small farm close to Appleton or home in any good town in exchange. The price would be about $20,000 with stock, fixtures and building. This is a money making proposition, but on account of ill health the owner wishes to dispose of same.

On the north side of West College-ave. Lot 24x120, building 20x40 with a five room flat upstairs. Will take in exchange small modern home close in. Price $6,000. The lot alone without the building is worth this price.

CHILDREN DON'T BELIEVE FATHER'S STORY OF MURDER

Declare Mother Was Too Much in Awe of Weigelt to Attack Him With Knife

By Associated Press

Oshkosh.—In a courtroom peopled only by the members of the jury drawn for the regular term of circuit court, the attorneys and the attaches of the court, Harry Weigelt, confessed wife murderer, Thursday morning before Judge Fred Engling was given life sentence in the state prison at Waupun for first degree murder of his wife, Tillie Weigelt.

Sentence was pronounced immediately after he had pleaded guilty. Asked by the court if he had any statement to make, Weigelt said only that he wished to see his children before he was taken to prison. District Attorney D. B. Allen, after reading the information, said he would resume of the case for the benefit of the court.

Children of Harry Weigelt, Oshkosh man who has confessed that he murdered his wife and then strung up her body in a woodshed at their home to make it appear that his wife had committed suicide, do not believe the story. They particularly declare that Weigelt's statement that his wife attacked him with a butcher knife is false, believing their mother was too much in awe of their father to attack him.

The children say their father attacked their mother by surprise, knocked her unconscious with a blow in the face and then dragged the body to the woodshed where it was found the next morning.

ROAMED THROUGH HOUSE

Emil Weigelt, a son of the family, went home shortly after 8 o'clock to give his mother some money and at that time his father appeared to be in an ugly mood. Emil and two other children were home all night but they did not know of the crime until next morning. Although during the night Weigelt roamed through the house, occasionally shouting the devil, Emil, alarmed by his father's strange action, got up but did not attempt to follow his parent.

The crime, as it is reconstructed by the children, differs from the story told by the father. The children believe their mother was in the yard hanging up clothes to dry about 9 o'clock at night when their father attacked her, striking her with his fist or with some heavy object. He then dragged her body to the woodshed, tied a rope around her neck and pulled the body above the ground.

Whether Weigelt struck his wife with his fist or with another object has not been determined but the condition of her face indicates that he struck her with his fist.

ABUSED HIS WIFE

Children declare Weigelt has been bitter toward his wife for a long time, often going away for long periods. He abused her unmercifully, in spite of her care for him, and he was extremely angry because of Mrs. Weigelt's regard for the wife of one of their sons who lived nearby. He also was angry because Mrs. Weigelt showed an interest in their son's child.

Weigelt showed no remorse at the funeral of his wife, even smiling when he saw the body.

Mrs. Weigelt was said to be an excellent housekeeper, keeping their home at 225 Cathart street in splendid order. Children who had noted their father's bitterness toward their mother, had feared that he would use violence toward her but she refused to leave home until their son's baby was a little older.

COUNTY COPS NAB 8 DRIVERS FOR STEPPING ON GAS

Bogan Gets Six of the Eight Men Stopped for Fast Driving

All three county motorcycle officers of the county were let loose Wednesday on the speeding public, and their combined vigilance resulted in the arrest of eight speeders.

Six of the motorists were apprehended by Wilbur Bogan, and five of these were stopped within an hour and a half, between midnight and 1:30 in the morning.

The county got back $10 of its money it had paid D. L. Nelson, Green Bay, an agent for road machinery. He has sold several machines to the county, but Thursday he returned $13.20 as a result of his arrest Wednesday afternoon by Officer Bogan on the speeding count. He was driving 44 miles an hour.

Five other arrests by Bogan on highway 15 were those of John Maus, Green Bay, going 45 miles an hour; Richard Waker, Meridian, 45 miles an hour; Harry Lamers, Kimberly, 42 miles; George Hase, Kaukauna, 44 miles; Colens VanHoop, Little Chute, 41 miles.

Officer Allen Kaufman arrested H. E. Brooks, Pulaski, for driving 44 miles an hour on highway 47 Wednesday, and Officer Jack Frenz arrested Frank Fiodin, Marquette, Mich., for driving 50 miles an hour on highway 26 on the same day. The usual fine of $10 and costs was paid in all cases.

TAKES JURY JUST 20 MINUTES TO SET FEMAL YOUTHS FREE

Young Men Held on Larceny Charge Freed in Chilton Court

After 20 minutes deliberation Wednesday morning a jury at Chilton returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Elmer Farnell, 18, and John Farnell, 18, Clarkston, who were arrested last week and turned over to the sheriff of Calumet-co on a charge of petty larceny. The boys were alleged to have stolen a spotlight from a car belonging to Nicholas Hausor at a dance at St. John on Sept. 7.

The charge was based on the testimony of one witness, who was sitting in his car about 100 feet from the car owned by Hausor and who saw two men trying to wrench a spotlight from the Hausor car. The witness thought they were the two Farnell boys. The evidence was purely circumstantial. The boys admitted they were at the dance but pleaded not guilty to the charge.

The state was represented by James Kerwin of Calumet-co, while Farnell and Keller represented the defendants.

DRIVERS GETTING MORE ACCUSTOMED TO "DUMMY COPS"

Traffic at Busy Corner Speeded Up By Automatic Signals

After traffic officers were their voices hoarse by continual shouting after motorists who could not understand or failed to observe the new "Stop" and "Go" automatic traffic signal lights at Oneida and Colchester, traffic is now moving with greater precision.

The signal lights have been in operation now for almost a week and the novelty of the system is beginning to wear off. Nevertheless, motorists, as a rule, do not lose sight of it, but watch the signals quite carefully. Occasionally a forgetful autist slips by and is called back by the whistle of the traffic officer who is continually watching for infractions of the rules. Believing that the inscriptions "Stop" and "Go" on the lenses of the red and green lights are the signal to stop and green lights the signal to go.

The successive flashing of the smaller lights which count the number of seconds remaining before the next traffic change has been regulated to operate faster, thus cutting down the delays of cars at the intersection. Now an automobile needs to wait but little longer than was required under the old stop rule, and with clear passage an automobile is able to hasten across although it is more than a block removed at the beginning of the traffic change.

The greatest source of trouble lies in the movement of pedestrians, according to the police. The system cannot operate perfectly unless persons on foot move simultaneously with motor vehicle traffic, thereby obviating delays and possible accidents. Just as pedestrians were subject to the traffic officer's whistle, they are now bound to the signals of the automatic lights and should observe them, it is warned. This applies especially to children, aged people and women pushing baby carriages. They should be on the lookout, however, for cars that make right or left hand turns.

Ego-Mania Made M'Coy A Slayer, Psychologist Says

Los Angeles, Calif.—"Is Kid McCoy crazy?"

Attorneys for the former pugilist who now stands indicted for the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, have let it be known that insanity will be in-terposed.

Hazard Page, noted psychologist, who is not connected with either the prosecution or defense attorneys being marshaled for the trial, says "egoism" is the cause of the pugilist's downfall. In other words, McCoy is the victim of complexes.

"Primarily, this alleged slayer is indicated as the possessor of a distinctly dual personality," Page says. "As a brilliant champion of his pugilistic division he was devoted to achievement of success within the squared ring. There developed his first manifestation of psychosis, that of ego-mania, a superior belief in his own abilities and possibilities.

"His first marriage, which came early in his career, in view of his subsequent marital adventures, gives the initial manifestation of his second apparent psychosis, that of marital-paranoia.

"The growth of this psychosis eventually developed the man into a sex-paranoic, in which condition his relations with women, were characterized, not by love and tender regard, but the egomania of conquest.

"Competent in the ring, his success brought him to the drawing rooms of society where his well-modulated voice contributed to the conversations—while a later hour of night found him with his honky-tonk companions of the red light district.

"The Kid did not artificially assume the character he manifested but in the urge and impulse of ego-mania he actually became the various characters he played. His consciousness has been driven by his imagination to play a part and he has lived in dreams until his destiny has overtaken him in its most sinister aspect.

"An ego-maniac, a self-paranoic and finally a homicidal maniac, he is utterly irresponsible, victim of psychic characterization.

"He is a remarkable and tragically pathetic example of both physical and mental deterioration and decay."

BOB ENTERED IN MICHIGAN RACE

By Associated Press
Lansing, Mich.—The formalities necessary to insure a place on the Michigan ballot in November to Robert M. LaFollette and Burton K. Wheeler were taken here Wednesday in the first state convention of the Independent Progressive party.

The formal business before the convention was the adoption of the national LaFollette platform and the selection of fifteen presidential electors, whose names will appear in the Independent column on Nov. 4.

Unless plans laid in preliminary conferences miscarry, the convention will not attempt to name a state ticket. Members of the committee neither commend nor condemn Senator James Couzens, Republican, and urged that the Ku Klux Klan and other controversial matters be entirely ignored.

POLICE FOLLOW FORGER'S CLEW

Meager Information Guides Authorities in Search for Woman

Appleton police are continuing their investigations of the woman who cashed several worthless checks at several local business institutions last week. She passed about a half dozen bogus checks for amounts of about $5 to $10 each and totaling about $40.

The police have but few clues to aid them in the search, but they are working on what they have and have made some progress, it is said. The young woman seems to be of Swedish nationality. The checks she presented bore the signature of a Mrs. Olson and were made out to a Miss Swanson and a Mrs. Osmond. An instance which betrayed her was her statement that she lives on "North" Rankin-st., an expression which only a stranger would use, for although there is a North Rankin-st. the term is not yet used by Appleton residents.

Fred Hatch, a brother-in-law of the dead woman, was seriously injured in the accident. Only meagre details of the accident reached Wilmont but it was said that the collision occurred during a heavy rain storm.
